1:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.	Workshop One How will we know if our guided pathways reforms are benefiting students? Dr. Davis Jenkins, Senior Research Associate, CCRC Hana Lahr, Research Associate, CCRC Description: Davis Jenkins and Hana Lahr of CCRC will lead a mini-workshop on how your college can measure whether your efforts to implement guided pathways reforms are benefiting students. Join us to discuss questions including: What are the best leading indicators of longer term success? How can you use data on indicators to engage faculty and staff in improvement efforts? How do these metrics relate to Ohio’s performance funding model and Campus Completions Plans?	Room 404
1:30 p.m. – 3:30 p.m.	Workshop Two Transformational change: Valuing your institution and your department! Dr. Tonjua Williams, Sr. Vice President, Student Services, St. Petersburg College Description: How to get people to change is the foundation of leadership shared by Lencioni in The Five Dysfunctions of a Team and is the basis for leadership transformation at St. Petersburg College. Collaboration, transparency and teamwork are critical to creating systemic change. During this interactive session, participants will learn how to play fair in the sandbox for student success. Join us as we learn how to overcome the hurdles of collaboration, develop aligned values and support cross-discipline teamwork. Let’s create change by changing!	Ballroom
